

Editorial Notes

The African Journal of Legal Research is published to encourage research within and outside Africa. The Journal receives papers from members of the Legal Profession in legal practice, in-house Counsel, other Industries and the Academia.

The AJLR met the requirements for Indexing by Creative Commons Attribution (CC BY) and Google Scholar and has set standards to counter plagiarism through the use of Turnitin and other anti-plagiarism software. All these measures are geared towards enhancement of the quality of the articles. It has a wide coverage and standard contributions from diverse areas of law and research. The Journal is a contribution to contemporary issues in legal research, pedagogy and ongoing legal discourse, proffer solutions/suggestions to legal and social issues and ultimately bring about development and improvement on legal research in Africa and beyond.

Contributors are solely responsible for the views expressed in their articles and such views are not necessary those of the Institute of Legal Ethics and its Editorial Board and do not represent the publishers and printer for all intents and purposes.
